

CODE OF ETHICS

The following outlines the key principles of sustainability to which Purple Playground adheres. These principles underpin all of our business activities, procurement and production decisions and align with our relevant policies.

01 Integrity

All those carrying out work on behalf of Purple Playground are required to do so with professionalism, integrity, regard for the law, without bias and with regard for the highest standard of ethical consideration.

02 Transparency

Relevant information about the Purple Playground operation is available for interested parties as it applies to them.

03 Respect & Human Rights

We believe that all people are equal, and therefore extend equal respect out to all of our employees, members, community, and broader global community. This is extended through the choices we make in product, materials, and supplies procurement.

04 Local over Global

We always choose to support local organisations before global companies. We are committed, where possible, to keep financial flow within our local community and support small business.

05 Stewardship

Purple Playground is a temporary custodian of the land on which our services are carried out. We ensure respect for and acknowledgment of traditional owners. This temporary stewardship requires consideration for biodiversity and any localised environmental impacts.
